SEWING MACHINE.
We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine which renders it superior to any other in use
It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear,
It is entirely noiseless
A patented device prevents its being turned backward;
The needle cannot be set wrong;
Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;
It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1865. For particulars enquire of Forewarned.

It is interesting to mark the threatening tone of the rebel and Copperhead press, and to observe with what unanimity they all unite in the opinion that a fresh revolution is soon to occur Their predictions about the matter are constantly becoming more frequent in utterance, and more decided in expression, so that it is pretty evident that these inciters of sedition and brokers in human blood, do actually look for the President to usurp extraordinary powers, override Congress, cause imprison and execute prominent Radicals or loyalists, recognize the rebel and Copperhead members as the legislative branch of the Government and extirpate the whole hated race of Abolitionists The subjoined extracts exhibit the spirit of the press in the rebel States upon this matter

The Richmond Whig urges President Johnson to call together a Congress composed of members from all the States of the Union, as well of those of the South as of the North, and that if the radical members should refuse to attend, that he shall recognize the Northern conservative members and the Southern members, as the lawful Congress to sit in the Capitol and legislate for the country. The Whig does not see how this programme could be accomplished peacefully and argues that the radical section at Congress as it is now will continue its sessions, appeal to the people and proceed to muster an army if the United States army should not side with it In that case the Whig believes the Presidential would be prepared to meet force with force

The Register discoursing on the same subject says it is evident indeed that a violent collision between Congress and the President is inevitable, and is imminent

The Charleston (S C) News says there are obvious steps to the more true establishment of this Government in the call of a Congress to be composed of the members of the Southern States and such members of the present Congress as are ready to sustain his policy In such a Congress there would be as large a State and nearly as large a House while with such a body to sustain him he can even more justly represent the Government, and throw the radicals, who shall accept the issue, into the defiantive attitude of an adversary faction

Not a white behind, but rather in advance of these journals in proclaiming another revolution, are the so-called Democratic papers of the North

Take the following from Tom Florence's journal at Washington:

These men [Congress] had better be warned They are not a legal Congress, but an unconstitutional body of usurpers The country feels that the great error of the President was in ever recognizing them at all in their self important rump condition A little Cromwellian action is just the thing needed now, and there are 250,000 Democrats in the North who would back that kind of pluck with a good relish

The San Francisco Examiner, the acknowledged organ of the Democratic party of California, lately said:

The Abolition disease is fast drawing to a crisis The Jacobins in Congress are determined to bring matters to a head Having enjoyed the people before the most ruinous, foolish and protracted war, they seem bent on attempting the same game again

The Montgomery Convention which framed the Confederate Constitution was composed of pure and unsullied patriots compared with the majority of the present emasculated Rump Congress * * * By their bigoted and tyrannical test oaths they are frustrating the administration of the laws in eleven States * * * What should the Executive do under these circumstances? Sit quietly by and see treason hatching its iniquitous brood beneath his very nose? We think not The collision is bound to come We see its gradual approaches each day

The Herald, the organ of the Democracy in this city, said, only a few days ago:

Unless those men (Congress) be restrained and discouraged by a popular demonstration from Constitutional Union men, the people of this coast will be startled by the news of executive interference in a manner more of decisive, than the warfare of paper bullets or Presidential vetoes

The Review and the Democrat have also lately spoken to the same purpose. Scores of other Copperhead papers that we might quote from, are filled with articles of a similar kind. From two of the members of the United States Senate, the same menace has been heard What do these threats portend? If they are not the signal of danger, they at least show the insurrectionary spirit of those who utter them. Let patriotic men and haters of treason but forget that their adversarios are as wickedly malignant now as they ever have been, and that they only wait their opportunity to consummate their long cherished plan of enabling traitors to triumph over loyal men.

SOUTHERN REPRESENTATION.—If there is in this State a single man who is hesitating how to vote, because of the non-admission of the Southern representatives, let him read in the dispatches, Gen. Grant's earnest recommendation to Congress for an increase of the regular army and weigh well his reasons for the necessity of such increase. Gen. Grant says: "MORE TROOPS ARE NEEDED ON THE FRONTIER AT THE SOUTH. He also expressed the opinion that THE TROOPS CANNOT BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE SOUTH WITH SAFETY, FOR SOME TIME TO COME.

What does this language mean? Does it mean that the Southern people en masse have become so loyal since the cessation of their late treasonable rebellion, that they can be safely trusted with the administration of State and national affairs, without check or restraint? No man of sense can so construe it. It means that there yet remains such a condition of feeling among a majority of the late rebels as would render it unsafe to remove "for some time to come" the restraints of the loyal army.

In this connection, the statement of General Grierson assumes much importance, and should be well considered General Grierson, after a tour through the Southern States—he made several of them, during the war chasing murdering guerrillas—testified before the Reconstruction Committee that from his observations, "HE BELIEVED AN ORGANIZATION EXISTED AT THE SOUTH WHOSE PURPOSE IT WAS TO RENEW THE REBELLION."

General Grant, whose military sagacity is universally acknowledged to be keen and almost unmistakable, is evidently of the same or a similar opinion, or he would not have made this earnest appeal to Congress.

There is incontrovertible proof that many, if not the greater part, of the Representatives and Senators

Taxation of U. S. Bonds.

To show how the policy of taxing the bonds of the Government would work in practice, it is only necessary to use this illustration: Suppose Congress to pass a law permitting the States and municipal governments to tax the bonds of the United States—that is the only manner in which it could be done, for the U. S. Government itself could not do the taxing. Suppose, then, that another rebellion should occur, making it necessary to raise funds by issue of bonds, for the purpose of quelling the insurrection; suppose that the State of New York had already enacted a law as the Democrats desire, taxing such bonds a per cent. equal to the interest promised to be paid by the Government—would New York capitalists take one of them? Suppose all the States not in rebellion had already passed laws taxing the bonds a similar per cent., would any capitalists in any of those States invest in them? Everybody knows they would not. Then where could the government raise money to make war or to preserve itself? There is but one answer—it must go to foreign countries for it. Then when the debt and interest came to be paid, every dollar of it must go out of the United States. Every business man knows this to be the climax of bad policy. It would be equivalent to giving the States, counties, cities and towns, the power to prevent the government of the United States from raising a dollar by loan, within its own boundaries. Such a policy would most effectually cripple the finances of the government and place it at the mercy of the first insurrection or foreign war that might occur. No government worthy the name, has permitted or will permit its securities to be taxed and driven by that means, into foreign markets. No statesman ever proposed such a thing. The United States has never done it and never will, unless traitors get possession of the government and thus throttle it as a preparatory measure for ulterior schemes of treason, rebellion and division. The Supreme Court has more than once doubted that the securities of the government cannot be taxed. It is contrary to the genius of the government which ought and must always be an independent and free borrower in its own markets. To become anything else would be to place the general government entirely within the power of subordinate legislative authorities.

The bonds now extant and which Democrats insist shall be made subject to taxation, were issued and bought almost entirely by our own people under the guarantee of the government that they should not be subject to taxation. The faith of the government is pledged to their exemption from taxation and to now make them taxable would be no more or less than a violation of a solemn contract to which the Government is one party and the holder another, and would be a direct repudiation of the interest—as far as the tax should consume it—which the faith of the nation is pledged to pay.

Mr. Grover, in a speech the other night before the Democratic club, said in substance, "the Democracy does not propose to repudiate any of the promises of the Government in relation to bonds now extant, but only to make future issues of bonds taxable." This is not the position of the Democratic State platform, nor is it the position of either Fay, Kelly, Lane, or O'Meara. Kelly said here, that he "would fall in the Bonds now afloat, and would force the rich holder to take in lieu of them, taxable bonds." This is his language, and he emphasized the word "force." Fay's and Lane's declarations were the same in substance. This is, too, what the Democratic platform means. They ALL mean and talk, REPUDIATION. Grover knew this charge to be true when he undertook to establish another and different position for the Democracy—one which would relieve them of the odium of favoring repudiation of existing national promises. He knew that the Democratic argument in favor of violating national faith and repudiating the national promises to pay, had been driven home upon them, as too repugnant to the sense of honor of the American people, to be entertained, and hence his attempt to crawl from under the odium of it.

Mark, the people will repudiate the candidates and the party which proposes NATIONAL REPUDIATION.

A FOUL BIRD SENT HOME TO ROOST.—The Herald of the 21st made an unwarranted charge against the OREGONIAN, of "habitual suppression of facts which militates against its party." In support of the charge, the Herald cited the telegraphic dispatches published in the OREGONIAN of the 19th, saying, "The whole of the following extract was suppressed." The dispatches in question were not "suppressed" by the OREGONIAN, but were placed in type for publication as are all the dispatches received by us, and carelessly omitted in making up the forms. Anybody of ordinary good sense could have seen by the break in the middle of a sentence that it was simply an error in making up. We have since, upon discovering the blunder, published the dispatch in full. We have never felt it necessary to garble or suppress the dispatches for party or other purposes, but we have, as the telegraph operators will testify, faithfully followed copy, except to supply ellipses—words not affecting the meaning of the sentence. Every newspaper, including the virtuous (?) Herald, has to do this.

This much in relation to ourselves, and now let us see whether the Herald suppresses or garbles telegraphic dispatches. One of the positions of the Democracy and of the Herald is that the United States army should be withdrawn from the Southern States, that those States have "submitted to the situation" in good faith, and that it is an outrage upon them to continue the United States troops among their people. In the same issue of the Herald which charged us with "suppressing," occurs the following:

New York, May 17.—Special dispatches to the evening papers say: "The President's message to-day, enclosing Gen. Grant's letter, asked for the immediate passage of a bill to increase the regular army. The Lieutenant-General assigns as a reason for this request, the fact that more troops are needed on the frontier and that troops cannot be withdrawn from the South for some time to come."

The above dispatch, as the Herald and OREGONIAN received it, reads as follows, in the last clause:

The Lieutenant-General assigns as a reason for this request the fact that more troops are needed on the frontier and of the South. He also expressed the opinion that the troops could be withdrawn from the South with safety for some time to come.

This version of the dispatch has a very different meaning from the Herald's, which was garbled and mutilated for party purposes. If the Herald denies that it mutilated the dispatch and suppressed the words "of the South" and the words "with safety"—very material words—we will convict it of an unmitigated falsehood as well as of mutilating and "suppressing." We were perfectly sure when we first cast our eyes upon the Herald's article containing the charge above noticed that the canting old hypocrite and convicted traitor was crying "wolf" to cover up a predatory raid by himself, and that in the same issue might be found the evidence to convict him of the very sin against which the pious old copperhead inveighed.

Eastern Oregon.

We condense the following from a letter from Canyon City to the Mountaineer:

CANYON CREEK.

The bed of Canyon Creek, the flats at the mouth of the creek, and the newly discovered prospects on the main John Day River, promise well to employ thousands of hands for years to come, that is to say, of those who can and will work for a compensation of from $3.50 $ a day.

The bed of Canyon Creek is yet but partially worked. The ground ranges in depth from twelve to twenty feet in order to facilitate "stripping." Expensive hoisting machinery has been erected. In all, about twenty derricks have been put up for this purpose, all of which hoist by water power, but one—which is driven by steam. Upon an average, these derricks have cost about $2,500, making a total of $50,000 for this particular species of apparatus, to say nothing of the vast expense entailed in purchasing, draining and opening claims.

PROSPECTS ON THE MAIN JOHN DAY.

The first prospects in the main John Day River were obtained about nine miles below the mouth of Canyon Creek, and continued encouragement is derived from the developments of each week's labor. For many miles above and below where these prospects were obtained, the John Day runs through prairie hills of very irregular formation, and the river bottom is of the average width of a quarter of a mile—all of which is good meadow or arable land. Prospects have also been obtained eighteen miles below Canyon Creek, on a bar where the bed-rock is always high-water mark. While it is not to be expected that all the river bottom will pay, it is pretty well settled that a large proportion of it is rich.

THE MIDDLE FORK MINES.

The mines on the Middle Fork of John Day are confined to three creeks or gulches, which empty into that stream from the north. Going down stream, they are named, respectively, Elk Creek, Deep Creek and Rock Gulch. These creeks appear to be crossed by a range of gold-bearing rock from two to three miles up each of them, and from this rock has been dislodged the heaviest lumps of gold ever found in the John Day mines.

THE CUNNAHAR LEAD.

On the South side of the main John Day, nine or ten miles below Canyon Creek, is the cunahar lead, of which so much has been said. Some weeks since the Indians attacked two men who went up to examine the mine, and it was found necessary to send outside men with Henry rifles, and other shooting utensils, to take possession of the ground. During the last week this party has been engaged in sinking upon it, and the gratifying fact is established, that the cunahar lies in a true lead. The ore rapidly increases in richness as the miners go down on it, and the presumption is, that it will yield as well as the new or old mines of Idria and Almaden.

FARMING PROSPECTS.

As a grazing country, the foothills of the Blue Mountains are not excelled by any other part of the Columbia Basin; and to an abundance of grass and water is joined a climate by far the most moderate of any that I know of in the same latitude. A sufficiency of arable land is to be found conveniently located, and nothing is wanted but the subjugation of the Indians to render these hills and valleys the Arcadia of the North-west. The farming interest is already very great, and solid improvements and well-cultivated fields attest the prosperity of that portion of the community. A grist-mill has been erected at John Day City, at the mouth of Canyon Creek, and with seven cents a pound the advantage of the Dalles market, the growth of wheat must prove the most remunerative business in the State.

Owyhee Mining News.

The following is from the Owyhee Avalanche of a late date:

The Dry Flat is now working sixty men and supplying three stamps with ore. The labor and cost of shoveling the snow off the road from the mine to the mills have been great. Fully one-half of drifts, from six to thirty feet deep, had to be cut through after other portions became impassable for teamers. In places the road has more the appearance of a mimous railroad through hills than anything we have lately seen. The mine is yielding some very rich ore. We saw two specimens taken out on Wednesday, that would probably weigh thirty pounds and are covered on all sides with flakes of pure gold. The value of these two pieces of gold must be forty to fifty dollars. The surplus ground of the G. F. ledge was being worked. Water is annoying the workmen, but they expect that to be of short duration. Several men are making a road to get timbers to the Minnesota mine.

The Silver Legion—owned by the Cosmos Co.—has been worked all winter. The melting snow has made water troublesome but it is nearly free now. A splendid working shaft has been erected for hoisting ore and water and lowering timbers, &c., into the mine. The discovery ground of the Legion has passed into the Cosmos Co's possession, at a large price (we believe,) and it will be worked from two shafts. Considerable of the ore shows free metal. At the present working—1st South Extension—there must be fully three hundred tons of pay ore taken out. At the time the Company commenced work last Fall it was too late to build a road to the mine, but that will be attended to this summer and a winter's supply of ore be accumulated at the mill. Matters look prosperous with the Cosmos Co.

The Allison mine is being worked with a large force of men, under the superintendence of Captain Prescott and control of the Lincoln Company. Three shifts of men are employed. The mine is being worked in the old tunnel and shaft, and a new tunnel is started two hundred feet south to strike the ledge at a different place. The way work is being pushed forward on this ledge it will not be many months before its true value will be established. Hitherto efforts to work the ore profitably have been failures. During the amazing work the Company expect to start five stamps on Allison ore. Hope it will meet their reasonable expectations.

Boise News.

We obtain the following items from the Idaho Statesman, of the 16th inst:

It is reported that the Snake river steamer will run up to the Owyhee Ferry to-day. At all events it will start this week.

Col Coppinger, with about eighty men, arrived at Fort Boise last Sunday evening.

Richard Dunn has been sentenced by Judge Kelly to be hung on the 6th day of July for the killing of Thomas McKay last March.

SOUTH BOISE MILLS AND MINES.

The Idaho Company and the Waddingham Mills will be running in a few days, the former on Idaho ore, and the latter on Confederate Star ore; a large quantity of the last is on hand, and gold is visible through it with the naked eye. This Company appears to have done well. They do not owe a dollar for work done and have money on hand, and expect very shortly to pay the balance due on the original purchase money. The machinery is excellent and does not make more noise than an ordinary clock-tick. The Idaho mill has been undergoing some repairs.

On Red-Warrior all is quiet, but Capt. F. B. Nelson, in spite of attachments and disadvantages of every kind, has succeeded in sinking a shaft sixty feet on the Victor ledge, and from the shaft a tunnel fifty feet on the ledge. The lode is about five feet wide and prospects well—as high as fifty cents has been taken from one pound of rock, and twenty-five cents is of frequent occurrence.

The Benson Company are hourly looking for the return of Mr. Benson with funds. This Company has spent large sums in developing mines.

The road from Rocky Bar to Yuba is also several feet deep in snow. At the latter place the Haverstire Company have struck their ledge two hundred and fifty feet beneath the surface, by a three hundred foot tunnel which has cost nearly $5,500, or about $18 a foot. Dudley Hoyt is their superintendent of operations. The lode is large and prospects well. This company has shown better judgment than any in the country—they develop their lodes before putting up machinery. The Altamonte and the Monticello ledges at Yuba are opened and prospect well.

State Items.

The Mountaineer says that the body of a man was found in the Columbia river, at Orillo, on Saturday. The body was entirely stripped of clothing, and from appearances must have been in the water a long time. We are informed that evidence of foul play was on the body in the shape of a gunshot wound in the left side; and that the face was so disfigured that it was impossible to recognize it. It was taken charge of by the Coroner.

We learn from the Mountaineer that the Columbia river rose very rapidly at the Dalles on Saturday night, and on Sunday had reached the height of two feet above high water mark of last year. The cellars of several buildings on Main street were drowned out—in the Umatilla House cellar there was three feet of water. It rose at the rate of three inches an hour up to 2 o'clock P. M. on Sunday, when it came to a stand. From that time up to 2 o'clock P. M. on Monday—it had receded about one foot. All fears of high water the present season are now passed.

We learn by special dispatch that the Union Convention of Jackson county, yesterday, nominated—for State Senator, John S. Love; Representatives, Chauncey Nye, E. Walker, Samuel H. Kyler; County Judge, Orange Jacobs; Sheriff, Wm. Bay; Clerk, Wm. Hoffman; Treasurer, Max Muller.

Looks Democratic.

The Herald is driven by the affidavit of John L. Baker to acknowledge that the charge that Hon. George L. Woods "got Wells and Baker to cut down the flag at McMinnville," is untrue. But though Mr. Woods is reluctantly exonerated by the Herald, the charge is still made that the "Radicals" did it. Now we don't know the politics of Wells, the man whom Baker saw cut the flag down; but from the act he committed, we judge he is a Democrat. Certainly it has been a Democratic habit for several years to haul down the flag of the Union. At one time it was entirely excluded from the eleven Democratic States, but has since been restored in spite of the efforts of such good Democrats as R. E. Lee, Jefferson Davis, J. C. Breckinridge, G. L. Vallandigham and the "political vagrant" of the Herald, J. C. The cutting down of the flag at McMinnville sounds what resembles the burial of the national ensign at Mobile by the Herald editor's friends in 1861. Both acts look exceedingly Democratic.

Salisbury says there will be war in his State. His ordinary "state" is one of intoxication, and the war, therefore, will be between "rot gut" whisky and vile rum. It will be a Democratic war and, no matter which whips, there will be a Democratic victory.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—No Eastern news to-day. No local news of any importance whatever.

Defeat of the Spanish Fleet—Gun Explosion—The Russian Telegraph Expedition.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22d.—The private dispatch from New York states that on the 3d the Spanish fleet attacked Callao, Peru, and were defeated, the Admiral himself being wounded. No further particulars.

Dispatches from New York 21st states no cases of cholera in the city or harbor.

Gun Cotton in Bruce's printing office, on Commercial street, this afternoon, on investigation with lighted taper led to an explosion, injuring Mr. Bruce, and destroying the plastering and floor of the building. No fire occurred although the loud report created much excitement.

The ship Palmetto of the Western Union Telegraph Expedition to Russia, will sail this week, and the whole fleet expects to be under way by the 14th of June. The Russian Commissioner for the fleet will arrive by next steamer from New York.

The Herald says of Ben. Hayden:

"He has but to open his mouth, and words roll out with astonishing rapidity. He never takes a note—never has the scratch of a pen, even when debating."

As to his "astonishing rapidity," he is like Don Adriano de Armado, who "drew out the thread of his verbosity finer than the staple of his argument." As to the other accomplishments which the Herald boasts he possesses, we suggest first, that he never debates—but only rants; and second, that the probable cause of his never taking notes or having "the scratch of a pen," is that "he can't read writing handy."

THE FUTURE OF THE PACIFIC COAST.—There are at this time so many interests on the Pacific coast who entertain wide views of the future, how many persons in this vast and fast growing country would newspaper comment calculated to increase this appreciation—that we have decided to devote a portion of our space to a series of articles upon the subject, expressive of our humble opinion upon the question. So long as the sentiments of disinterested persons are allowed to go forth to the world unrestricted, we may relish and hope in vain for renewed activity in all the legitimate pursuits of business and the dissipation of the numbers and character of the people who are now crowding upon the tide of immigration, setting toward our shores. We are prepared to show that our mountains, valleys and plains are ample enough to sustain in luxurious, enterprising and prosperous people, and as regards Oregon, we shall be able to show that her favorable geographical position must ever be second to no State in the coast, and this a most hopeful stand at least in San Francisco, which alone is becoming second only to New York. We can see nothing to attach the brightest hope and promise of the State but for the proper development of her resources, capital and population are requisite, and in due season we shall have both. We shall argue that the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and the opening of direct trade with Asia will collectively and more soothingly be a time thereby Oregon with less detour than will be possible by any other route. In support of this we refer to articles in the San Francisco Bulletin of May 9th and 10th. These articles show that the most feasible route between China and the Pacific coast lies from the vicinity of the Columbia river, the 46th degree of latitude. The conclusions of the authors are based upon a careful and thorough investigation made in regard to the feasibility of including Honolulu or other ports of the Sandwich Islands as a point for contingent upon the proposed route of the China Mail Steamship Line. The facts have been drawn from a great variety of sources, including not only all printed data within reach—such as charts, directories, sailing directions—but also many log books as were accessible. The general results covered by the investigation are delightful to contemplate, and we infer from the Bulletin of the 10th inst. that it appears free to the conviction that the great route from China to California is on the parallel of 40 deg. 30 min. It should get to this line as soon as it can, if this sailing is the shortest. The route from China to California there is in this case, from 500 to 1,200 miles shorter than through the North East trades, via Sandwich Islands. On the route to Japan and China the deflection would not be quite so much, but we still find a great arc to make, the latter account of such its magnitude. In the same between the parallels of 30 deg. and 40 deg. North Westerly winds prevail for the greater part of the year, and there are no doubt. Between these parallels the greatest number of an and successful voyages have been made from China to San Francisco. Our position, it will be seen, is toward only north of this part. The experiences of the Spanish galleons made regular voyages every year from Manila to Acapulco. Commencing in the month of July they took the route between the parallels of 36 and 40 North having prevailing Westerly winds, and making the passage in from 90 to 100 days. It is still higher parallels had been taken the winds would have been stronger and more regular. The great circle from the ports of China and Japan to the Pacific States, may be followed by sailing vessels all the year and with less loss of time since than attends running up the Northern route between New York and Liverpool. If sailing from Hong Kong and Japan, that implied the additional distance of but 600 to 1,200 miles required to touch at Honolulu a most important one by the way, there is the further disadvantage of being below the zone of Westerly winds when the rest of the voyage must be made in the teeth of the North East trades, or a higher parallel to get Westerly winds. Taking, for example, bound to the return voyage from Honolulu been as far north as 47 degrees for Westerly winds. Continual head winds on a long voyage is a serious item, even for a steamer, and one which in an enterprise of such magnitude may legitimately be taken into account. It needs the concurrence of as many favorable circumstances as possible to insure success. On the outward bound voyage to Japan and China, there is not so much deflection to include Honolulu. Still, the most favorable route is quite to the southward of the Sandwich Islands but returning to the Islands being considered in other respects, by many navigators, as the best possible. Outward bound sailing vessels seek the zone of the North-East trades. Three days sail between the equator and the parallel of 10 degrees North and of course from nine to ten degrees South of the Sandwich Islands. For a greater part of the year in order to get within the region of the trades on the route to Japan, we don't need be deviated to go within a distance of from 500 to 700 miles of the Islands. Running that through is in 21 degrees 15 minutes North latitude and San Francisco 37 degrees 20 minutes North, we perceive at once that Honolulu is far below the nearest extreme of western on the route to China and Japan.

UNION CLUB MEETING LAST EVENING.—The meeting of the Union Club last evening was a large and enthusiastic one. J. P. Carlisle, Esq., of East Portland, made a convincing and argumentative speech, which from the beginning was listened to with a great degree of interest, and the speaker loudly applauded. His review of the acts of the Opposition party, and his views regarding the principles that party were in plain and none could fail in seeking to palliate the delinquencies of the party. He was followed by Col. Ford, of this city, formerly an Old Line Whig, in a speech, which was calculated to awaken the ardor. Dr. Watkins closed the speaking in a few remarks directly to the points at issue. The music furnished by the Mechanic's Brass Band, and the Glee Club is a good feature of these meetings. On Thursday and Saturday evenings of this week there will be speaking at the room of the club.

PRESENTATION TO MR. WYATT.—A little episode occurred at the rehearsal of the Portland Philharmonic Society last night. During the intermission City Marshal R. R. Hoyt called the society to order, when, at his suggestion S. J. McCormick, Esq., stepped forward, and in a few appropriate remarks, presented the Conductor, Mr. E. Wyatt, Esq., with a beautiful "Mason & Hamlin" Parlor Organ, as a mark of esteem for his personality, as well as for his efficiency and earnest efforts in making this surprise a success. Mr. Wyatt, in accepting the magnificent present, was so entirely taken by surprise that his reply reminded those present very forcibly of the reported speeches of Gen. Grant: "Mr. Chairman, I do not know what to say, but I feel very much obliged." What longitude! The route from China to California there is in this case, from 500 to 1,200 miles shorter than through the North East trades, via Sandwich Islands. Mr. Wyatt, in accepting the magnificent present, was so entirely taken by surprise that his reply reminded those present very forcibly of the reported speeches of Gen. Grant: "Mr. Chairman, I do not know what to say, but I feel very much obliged." What longitude!

SUNDAY.—It is somewhat singular that Caleb Lyon, of Lyonsville late Governor of Idaho, and Mercer, of the rival King's County Emigration scheme, should pass through Portland without either of the hungry "locals" seeking them up, yet such is the case. Asia was a passenger to San Francisco on the last trip of the Orizaba, and we learned yesterday that Mercer passed through the city a few days ago in such haste to reach Washington Territory, that he chartered the propeller Gen. Grant to land him at Monticello. Thus birds have flown.

NEWSPAPER FAVORS.—As usual, we are under obligations to Wells, Fargo & Co. for full files of San Francisco and Eastern newspapers by the Sierra Nevada. Yesterday we received a similar favor—papers by the Orizaba. Once or twice lately, we have failed to give credit, for lack of accommodation, not through want of appreciation of the favor, but once through our own carelessness, and, perhaps another time, through inadvertence in "making up."

THE RIVER.—Yesterday we found our record of the rise of water in this river last year, and learn from it that the highest stage attained during the season was on the 10th day of June, when the water was eighteen feet and seven inches above low water mark. The highest point attained on yesterday showed a rise of nineteen feet two inches, or seven inches more than was reached last year. The rise was slow from noon on Monday until noon yesterday, being but two inches in that time.

THE ORIZABA.—We are informed that the O. R. N. Company are about to bring the steamer Oneonta into these waters from the upper Columbia. She was to have passed the dalles yesterday, Celilo. The steamer Celilo, now of this city, was successfully brought through the low water, dalles and Cascades in 1864, and another steamer, built above the Cascades is now plying at Lake Lake.

HUMBUG DETECTED.—A couple of Victoria citizens of African descent have arrived in town to take up their residence here and engage in the business of drayage. They propose to organize a company of ten, &c.—Oregon Herald, 23d.

A responsible draymen of this city calls our attention to the above paragraph and pertinently notices that such persons have arrived for any such purpose. The paragraph was invented for an electioneering bugbear.

CASE OF DISTRESS.—An old Indian suffering from disease, was yesterday taken care of by the authorities who found him, in a fix, at the foot of Washington street where he had been left in removing him from the wharf on account of the high water. We are not informed as to which reservation he should be sent to.

NEW GOODS AND MORE TO ARRIVE.—At the beginning of our article to be found in our advertising columns this evening over the signature of the old established firm of Hill & Pain. Their new place of business on First street, between Taylor and Yamhill is quite handsomely fitted up. Give them a call.

SMART DOG.—Some persons who were in pursuit of fun yesterday attempted to push a large dog into the river from one of the wharves and finally succeeded, but the dog was sharp enough to seize his opponent by the breeches, and take him along, much to the amusement of the bystanders.

RECORDER'S COURT.—But one case—that of an intoxicated—was tried yesterday before Recorder Hoffman. The defendant was committed for the usual 48 hours. One of the weaker sex was arraigned for assaulting a negro, and the case was continued.

LARCENY.—A man named Kelly was yesterday arrested for larceny, and will be tried before Justice Hoffman to-day. The charge is the abstraction by sleight a gold ring valued at $10, and $17, in money, from a man named Kohlberg.

A STEAMER DAY.—Wreck flow will passing busy scenes along our wharves. The Sierra Nevada arrived on Monday, the Orizaba yesterday, the Oneonta will be here to-day, and next week the Celilo and Gen. Grant will steam at a day in nearly good for "dull times."

THE steamship Sierra Nevada will leave this evening at 4 o'clock, punctually, the 23d Instant from the wharf foot of C Street.

WELLS FARGO SERVICE.—C. M. Carter, Esq. claim agent gives notice in another column which is of interest to those of volunteers.

THERE is a message for Mrs. Elizabeth Hastecamper at the telegraph office.

Not "Good Democrats."

In a speech in this city on the 18th Thomas H. Benton affirmed that "no old line whig could ever be a true Democrat."

How does John C. Bell Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, and one of "old line whig," relish this thrust from the man who is now a candidate for the high office in the State? How does Judge Strong once an "old line whig" and now a Democratic candidate for the State Senate relish it? How does Dr. Wilkes once an old line whig and now a Democratic candidate for the House like it? Gratifying as it is to be told by the man who stands at the head of your party that you are regarded with distrust, and that you are not and never can be "good Democrats!"

A LETTER.—ELLSWORTH & CALDWELL Gentlemen—Please forward me two (2) 8 oz (by express) flasks of the Cloches de Lande. I think they are called of me, in Dallas City, as they are the best I ever had and oblige

Yours &c. [illegible]

This is a sample of the unsolicited testimonials received daily by the above firm. Their Gallery on Missouri is at No. 80 First street a few doors above Washington.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—These Bitters are universally acknowledged to be a sure preventive and cure for Fever and Ague, Flatulence, Heartburn of the Stomach, many other like affection. Their effect upon the system is most miraculous; they give a healthy tone to the system, relieve all morbid matter, and in fact thoroughly cleanse the system of all impurities. In no case has it been known to fail, but on the contrary, new vitality have been found in the blood. To those afflicted with any of the above ills of the body, the Bitters are offered as a speedy and certain cure. Try them and form your own opinion.—Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. my29 HODGE & CALEF, 97 Front St.

The reason why so many die with consumption is because they neglect the first symptoms, supposing it to be a cough. When the system is first attacked with a cough, a few doses of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will relieve the lungs, and prevent the disease from becoming seated. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1.

S. T.—1866.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, dizziness after eating, pill in the mouth, indigestion, &c., should remember that they will find a sure remedy in

PLANTATION BITTERS.

With the most extraordinary tonic, they combine the best stimulant, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are not a single ingredient in their composition which is not perfectly pure, and most approved of all other tonics when used healthy, gentle stimulants. They are guaranteed

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an unfailing antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They are unfailing in every case in relieving the mind.
They prevent all neuralgic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and keep the stomach sweet.
They cure Dyspepsia or Indigestion.
They cure Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia.
They cure Sick Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are unsurpassed as a great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of imitations. Examine every bottle to see that it has our private U. S. Stamp uncancelled over the cork, with private wrapper and signature on a fine steel plate label. Beware of refilling, which is not to be confounded with spurious and interior articles. Any person refilling bottles, or selling Plantation Bitters by the gallery, or Bulk, is an imposter. Any person imitating this title or a like, any other material through, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Dr. Drake's Plantation Bitters from Cellar Druggists, merchants, &c., is the best evidence of their worth, and purity. They are not like all other spiritual drinking saloons, physic, bitters, and corn steamed alcohol, sold by many stores.

The sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, over the inferior quality of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public by putting up in their own their inferior product and sell for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can be very easily detected by the following test: Let the Coffee be ground in the mill in the presence of the purchaser, then if the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE is used, the aroma will be found to

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON April 20, 1866

The opposition are inclined to pass themselves as martyrs before the country and principally because Dan Voorhees and Tom Brooks have lost their seats in the House and Judge Kerr of New Jersey was expelled to run and leave the Senate Nothing, I do more readily admit than the charge of the Copperheads but I will keep it up with tremendous power Brooks of the New York Express has the best chance of them all for he causes a newspaper notice on all the mornings and he don't want a hospital to use it The House is a good deal like the cases we clerks parts looking and with out the slightest reference to the facts or the law One would think to hear these gentlemen talk that they always vote as recording to the dictates of duty but we never think one of them voting against a member of their own party—never in favor of a Republican Now if any one will take the trouble of looking over the election cases during the past few years, he will find that a Republican committee frequently has decided in favor of the opposition contestant or sitting member and that always a no Republican in the House always voted against party in the decision of these cases It will also find that for four years there have been two cases where opinions members of the House have voted against party So much for the cry of party tyranny In the cases alluded to, I have quite been that substantial justice was done The fightest case was that of Voorhees In the case of Stockton the Senate lay down the doctrine that no man can undertake a rapid event to State for an office unless he is elected by a clear majority of the Legislature in Joint ballot Is this not a wise doctrine? I think it is

In the case of Dodge or Brooks, a great amount of fraud was proved and Dodge was let in to the seat No doubt Brooks will continue to so martyrize himself as to get back to the next Congress He is now making up the plan and will be the most fearful dodger a most accomplished politician, he will not be seriously trouble The district is opposition by several, the usual majority, and the way in which Dodge got his election was through the fact that two opposition candidates ran Brooks and Burr ran against Dodge—Burr was a Union Democrat and Brooks a Copperhead, and Dodge unquestionably got the largest number of honest votes

It is alleged by some of the more unscrupulous of the opposition that the Senate elected Stockton for the purpose of passing the Civil Rights bill over the veto, but the result proves that it could have been passed with Stockton present The Copperhead newspapers very foolishly allege that Brooks was voted out of the House for the same purpose, when there were not less than fifty votes to spare—Union votes, I mean. No statement could be more ridiculous than this, but it is like many others which they have coined for an emergency

The Unionists in Congress are not to be scared by such allegations, but will go straight on without fear to accomplish the full purpose they do not mean to be scared by a set of Copperheads who labored all through the war in the interests of rebels, and who have now sprung into a new life through the conduct of the President

The President has at last put an end to the anxiety and curiosity of New York respecting the Collectorship of that port Mr. Smythe, an old and honest merchant of that city has got the nomination Senator Hall Lane's brother in law, Judge Davis, has not got the place, and there is comfort in the thought After all this treachery on the Civil Rights bill, he has failed to secure the place for his relative I have heard a singular story respecting this matter It is, that the President promised the place to Judge Davis, (Lane's relative) but that the papers said as much about it after Lane had failed to please the President on the Civil Rights bill, that he actually requested the President not to fulfill his agreement, as he could not face the storm of criticism which was pouring upon him He, therefore, preferred to be able to turn round upon his detractors and say, you see that I have been liberal, and that I voted according to my conscience, and not for pay!" I cannot credit the statement, and chronicle it not as a fact, but as a part of the gossip of the times

People are wondering as to the causes which led to the assassination of Smythe I am sure I cannot tell He was not the candidate of any New York member of Congress, nor was he originally Wood's candidate, but I hear that latterly, Wood has been friendly to Smythe, and Monday morning he introduced him to Vice President Foster with an air of triumph, as "the next Collector of New York" He is certainly not a bad man, and will, doubtless, do very well It is to be noticed that the President does not nominate radicals to office now-a-days—at least to important offices Perhaps this is not to be expected Mr. Chamberlain, of Ohio, has got nicely paid for his zeal and courage of the Civil Rights bill From the moment that he wrote it the President was determined to put him on the Supreme Bench. He might have united the South over and he could not have found a Union lawyer who is a cooler, calmer—He is evident that he very nearly agrees with the infallible Dred Scott decision The veto message of the Civil Rights bill certainly indicates that the writer has great doubts whether the negro is a citizen. Even Reverdy Johnson admitted in the Senate during the present session that since slavery was abolished the black man is a citizen of the United States by virtue of birth in the country Yet Stanberry (if he wrote his own as well as over the President's) sentiments in the message would not go so far as Reverdy Johnson, for the latter admits to the opinion that a black skin deprives a man of citizen-ship What worse than this were the opinions of Judge Taney, who has been dismembered from one end of the country to another?

The House was a good deal smarter than the Senate, for it passed a bill some time ago abolishing John of the effects of a judicial ship, and thus creating no vacancy The Judiciary Committee of the Senate slumbered over the bill until it was too late. It might have been instantly passed, and the President would hardly have ventured upon a veto, for he could not raise the question of constitutionality upon it. As the matter now stands, there are ten Republicans (including Stanberry) that the Court may be lobbied only to the extent of eight, and that is too. There should be nine or eleven Justices—the smaller numbers to be preferred.

Senator McDougall has been blustering himself again into the Senate and the matter ended with himself as one might not expect a very much, but unfortunately he disgraces California as well. Mr. Conness was speaking on a subject connected with the Union Pacific Railroad, I think, when McDougall interrupted him in a most violent manner, accusing him of acting solely with reference to himself and his personal interests. I need not add that he was drunk. Congress could not stand this, and he adjourned a punishment to his colleague on the spot The Globe gives the subjoined report of what he said

I shall perhaps have to state that previous to this Mr Conness replied to Mr McDougall's personalities had [illegible] falsehood" at Conness." After the [illegible] quoted Mr. (still Democratically re[illegible] of Maryland, and then went on to tell [illegible] the gentleman [illegible] from the official (Globe) account of the [illegible] of the quotation is too offensive for your [illegible] omit it. Simply to show exactly how Mr. Doo[illegible] the Senate, I give the official report

Mr McDougall—I shall be quite respectful I will not speak of the subject of the Pony, California I will speak of the superb Senator with the superior ladies There is a little story told of one of the best women in America—Mr. Pettigrew, of Charleston, South Carolina, I have long advocated a cause in which he had occasion to denounce the silent of the opposite counsel and his family for having been guilty of perjury, the highest sin of the family decalogue [illegible] which has a branch of the Alleghanies to that region, and came up to Mr Pettigrew, who was walking along in the old-fashioned style, with his green bag under his arm. This big, tall fellow came up and said to him, "You are a d—d damned liar." Mr. Pettigrew did not notice it. Then said he, "You are a damned scoundrel." Mr. Pettigrew did not pretend to see him at all, but walked along toward home, like a gentleman, "Mr. Pettigrew," said he, then, "you are a d—d damned son of a —."

The President pro tempore The Chair thinks the repetition of such stories is disorderly, and ought not to be indulged in in the Senate

Mr. McDougall—Very well, then, I will give the climax of the thing, which I think will not be rude, because it was done by a gentleman. When he said this, Mr Pettigrew knocked him down, and said to him "You may lie as much as you please, but this is the way I notice such remarks as you make last" Now, I say simply as these are lies, they do not malignify me, for I am conscious of my own rectitude"

A motion to expel McDougall, if then made, would have been carried on the spot, but it cannot be carried now The reason is obvious—there are too many lovers of whiskey in the Senate to render it possible to carry such a resolution That is why Saulsbury has not been expelled for his drunkenness, yet both Senators much deserve expulsion

"Mr Conness—If my purpose had ever been at any time, or if I ever could entertain the purpose, which I never have to reflect upon the colleagues, the Senators in this body, it were entirely unnecessary, the conduct of the Senator here furnishes the most severe reflection that could possibly be pictured by human tongue. The Senator, as I have once taken occasion to state to the people of my State, does not represent the State of California in any sense, either political or moral The Senator was enfranchised with the senatorial office by that great State five years ago, since which time the Senator has never returned to see his constituents or that they might see him, and yet I have been put to the constant test in this body of loyalty and faithful-hailing period of the people I represent here—to the assumptions of representation of them made by that Senator I have borne it sir I have sat in my place when that Senator so far from representing that high-toned, moral and courageous constituency and great sovereignty, was sitting in his chair or rather lying in his chair the object of pity, before an audience assembled here from nearly every State in the Union I have covered my eyes more than once in shame before those exhibits My associates in this body must not understand that I am dead to considerations of this character, but, sir, silently and quietly, kindly even to him, I was living the time when the Senator, by the testimony of his colleagues, should cease thus to mis represent, thus to humiliate, and thus to shock the decencies that was possible for him to do upon not only the floors that flanked him and enfranchised him, but upon the American character and upon the American Senate But, sir, I cannot bear it this morning in view of the wanton, unprovoked assault upon myself

The Senator rises here and handles the word falsehood Mr President against me The Senator dare not do that out of this great body

Mr President, I dare not reply for my senatorial character in its issue here, to conduct so despicable as that is I dare not respond to it Of my character for truth and veracity, for honor in the representative character I have no comparison to make with him I shrink from the contrast as I would from all the pollution that hell could vomit forth in its most disgusting convolutions I have no contrast to make"

Mr President, with gentleness, with kindness with what was due to the senatorial relation notwithstanding the provocations in every point of view—I would at any time and place if I have not here manifested them, denounce the high and impertinent duty of vindicating this great American fraud and have cast a vote upon any lay for the expulsion of the Senator because of his offenses committed here again and again against the dignity of this body; but sir I could not lend hand to such a work—the Senate is an sparing him but I question if there is a duration in this behalf for his exposure ingulfing again three degrees and violations of order and decorum and dignity until forbearance I no could to be a virtue The Senate have constantly done themselves and the country a wrong It was it seems high that this great body of which he became a member had by unanimity concluded that he should no longer sit in its committees to consider legislative questions These, sir, are but some positive considerations, aside from bringing reformation and change, has but sunk and degraded the object still more, until having no character to lose, nothing in controversy, he rises and commits the last offense this morning"

The rapture Senators have been talking very seriously for the last two or three days of expelling McDougall, and Mr Sherman went so far as to declare on the 7 year up on a resolution of expulsion Two thirds are required to expel a Senator Mac got alarmed, and yesterday made a most humble apology to the Senate and to Mr Conness There was so much pathos in it that it smacked of whisky Whether this apology will save him his seat we shall soon learn I should guess it would as some other honorable Senators are very fond of whisky and it would be a dangerous precedent to establish

The Freedmen have been making more trouble at Memphis I will have a full account for you, when the facts have been sifted, and I will not have it written in a hurry. I must say however, that both speeches are regarded with contempt in Congress both among Unionists and the opposition members His position is insufficient to make him a leader, he does not have the confidence of the country to be bold in his views and he is deficient in the presence of the cool-headed people of the North, he does more for them than any other man! It may be true but neither of these letters nor the colored men believed his statement I do not think the speeches have produced any mark on Congress for everybody I have conversed with was amazed by them The egotism in them is so monstrous that it excites laughter SPECTATOR

Letter from Lafayette

LAFAYETTE OREGON May 20 1866

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Last Wednesday the month and Lafayette five or six miles of the people of both sexes turned out to the political issues of the day discussed by Messrs Mallory Kelly and Dr Lane from Lafayette I was the present and after the party secured being instructed how to vote and to the action of the orators, who discoursed [illegible] the interests of the interests Mallory was [illegible] Kelly I cannot without telling you [illegible] of the old Democratic party [illegible] ridiculous to the extreme of the present Democratic party. He occupied an hour during which time another hat digest it of long [illegible] was present appeared to listen attentively while dull eyed whiskey [illegible] and coarse visaged fellows sank to sleep or struggled around for a short yard with huge revolvers and short bowie knife dangled to their sides [illegible] and incendiaries with their pistols being armed with a big club to defend their Democratic rights, should they happen to be roughly assailed by Black Republicans negro shriekers"

Mr Jay Fidwest Mallory in an hour's speech He plainly strided through the ground to the rostrum [illegible] and with his "Universal" and applied to the [illegible] a black battle beamed up. The crowd appeared to think he was going to treat before he began, and nearly all the afternoon bleary eyed rascals pressed closer to the stand, and looked amazingly happy He closed that side of the emptiness and crowed the [illegible] and there he his heard a great, ugly looking rascal [illegible] the negro pink to register their most learned argument, the Rev Pettedum V Busby It was the "nigger" that was licking and really, not beholding as in the crowd, I thought that was what he was looking after Wholly Loathing Nigger—these three dropped one just to suit his particular friends, the dance family, all through, his entire speech, which from them he will receive a warm and cordial support, and from none others. For a sample of his statesmanship, he said; "There is no power in the Government to coerce a sovereign State," and then in the next breath, prospectively hints at a good time ahead that they will have in whipping the States back into the Union, at present controlled by the Radicals. He plainly, when those States accede, accepting not any amount of billing rate on the Union party, he thought it would become him and add to his voting list to rehash and expose the seeming frailty of his party's performance on the 10th, by reading an affidavit of one Lynch, of Eugene City, that a certain Black-stock-ell which had procured and on the 10th rose to the said [illegible] Nothing new in this handling every allegation thereto against Judge Woods and Mr. Adams was triumphantly refuted to the full satisfaction of every body present, this many-hammer had to read it again and make a spread eagle speech on it, to the disgust of all thinking, intelligent people On the 10th, when the ballot was all was read implicating Woods and Adams in the flag desecration [illegible] Nothing Democratic of Yamhill, Mr. D. Belgian, a few years ago their candidate for the Legislature, calls before the audience, and in a clear, loud voice manifested his gratification that Woods had entirely exonerated himself from the imputation cast upon him by his opponents. The performance has given to Woods a good many votes that he would not have been likely to have received but For [illegible] studiously ignored the thing matter. It is to be hoped that he will sail in on that not just all along up the valley where Baker's ashes will accompany him.

Jay Lane's boy spoke his piece and subsided, shook hands with some of the Copperhead girls, and left town

Newspaper Attack on Governor Brownlow—Personal Difficulty.

NASHVILLE, April 17th,—An article appeared in the Nashville Daily Union this morning, which, after referring to the fact that General James D. Brewster denounced Thomas Williams of Carter for his speech yesterday in the House and challenged Williams to fight, says:

"This attempt to intimidate a legislator is of a piece with the radical policy. It is evident, however, that Jim Brownlow picks his man, Colonel Garnett used severer languages towards the Governor than did Capt. Williams but him sold not a word, the reason being that Garnett is a fighting man. We admire Jim's discretion. He never challenges a man whom he believes will try the virtues of cold lead with him."

The article then winds up by intimating that General James P. Brownlow, in his controversy with Williams, was acting by instigation of his father, the Governor At the close of the forenoon session of the House of Representatives Speaker Trousdale introduced J. B. Woodruff, reporter of the Union, upon the Capitol steps, pointed to the article quoted above, and asked Woodruff if he was its author Woodruff replied that he was Then you are a G—d—d liar," said Brownlow. Upon this Woodruff pulled out a Colt's revolver something less than three feet in length and placed the muzzle in close proximity with Brownlow's breast. Brownlow also drew a revolver, and the two gentlemen confronted and handled words with each other for some minutes, spectators momentarily expecting a fight Representatives were just coming out of the Capitol, and a large crowd soon gathered around The parties separated finally without bloodshed In the afternoon they had another altercation, and some think the difficulty will lead to regularly arranged hostile meetings Neither of the two men will probably care to risk his own life for the sake of a chance to shoot the other but neither is likely to back down from any position he may take The difficulty is the theme of much talk and excitement

THE PEACE PROCLAMATION IN THE SOUTH —An Eastern letter writer says

Whatever may be said in favor of the assertion that the President is still true to the Union party who elected him it is painfully evident that a large majority of the ex rebels of the South firmly believe the President is in sympathy with them They claim him as their own The Memphis Avalanche says the President is true to his inaugural section The Mobile Messenger rejoices that Andrew Johnson has the courage to stand by the oppressed people of the South The Mobile Register says from the moment President Johnson sustained Governor Sharkey's course that the Mississippi militia he has been the best friend of the South. The New Orleans Picayune says the attitude of the President is a compensation for many hard blows from Congress Perhaps the most notable exhibition of belief that the President was on their side took place when the Peace Proclamation was promulgated. Almost without exception the Southern journals and orators declared that the removal of troops was virtually ordered by the proclamation Others presided that speedy removal of the Freedmen's Bureau, and it was quite commonly declared by the Southern papers that the proclamation restored to the States all their former rights Ergo, exclaimed the Montgomery Mail, slavery is one of them The Vicksburg Times was told at a public assembly in Jackson, Mississippi, that the Emancipation Proclamation of Mr Lincoln had been revoked All this effect was, of course, watched at Washington, and so great became the delusion of the Southern people that Gen Grant found it necessary to issue orders to inform the people of the South that the proclamation in no wise affected the military occupation of the country This order and the announcement of the passage of the Civil Rights bill by Congress, damped the fiery ardor of some of the more exceptable Southerners

MONTANA FABLOIDS.—The Alta's St. Louis correspondent (April 25th,) writes:

When your merchants held a meeting in San Francisco some time ago, to devise measures for securing the Montana trade, they should have collected statistics of the losses in the business of transporting freight up the Missouri river last year They would have found it the most disastrous year ever known. This year, it promises to be still worse The first Montana boat, the U. S. Grant, went under and now we hear of about five disabled craft, some of them lying by repairing, with freight discharged others nature with the river falling all around them and one gorged between rocks waiting higher water The most probabilities are the St Louis Insurance Companies will have to pay about twice or three times as much, for losses as they have received. The gossips say that many more boats are loading for the mountains and many of them will never return One boat the Peter Balen, is provided with sheet iron armor as a defence against the Indians, but the worst enemies she will encounter will be on the bottom, and not on the top, of the water. Indeed such a proposition of the Montana freight sent up the Upper Missouri river is fool, that the latest effort to secure the trade to California must demonstrate a big error to rate. Yet, when we recall these experiences does it not seem ridiculous that a California Overland line should have been seriously proposed, several years since by the Upper Missouri and the Upper Columbia rivers to supersede the route across the Plains

THE STEAMER FORTY NINE.—A correspondent writes us from Colville under date of May 5th, as follows "I left the Little Dalles, on the steamer Forty Nine on the 16th day of April and saw the foot of Death Rapids on the morning of the 25th The steamer has proved a perfect success she is and no obstacles that she did not readily overcome There was one point at the upper end of the lower lake, and about five miles of much ice in the lower end of the upper lake The river—by in Little Dalles to the head of the Upper Dalles a distance of about fifty miles from the mines—is as easy of navigation as the Columbia below the mouth of the Willamette above that point at extreme low water the navigation is difficult in the going up it was so low that the boat had to wait at the foot of some of the rapids for the water to rise The snow on the banks above the upper lake we found from eighteen inches to two feet in depth and I was told that the snow on the divide was from four to five feet deep, and very soft The steamer will continue to run during the season both on Little Dalles and Death Rapids She left again on Monday, the 30th with taking about 40 tons of freight and 82 passengers On the first trip she took 70 tons of freight and 75 passengers This trip was made in 9 days up and 26 hours down—cutting her own wood —Walla Walla Statesman

PROTESTERS —The following is from the St Louis letter to the Alta California

The Copperhead party is just now making a terrible ado about the excessive prices of New England manufactures and trying to unite the West in an anti New England Free Trade policy They know the South will go against New England and so will believe that the race in March 1867 will be all up as any before the next Presidential election Evidently the Democratic party of the West would join in a clamor for Free Trade but failed to be realized Every Western State has more or less hope that she may be some day a manufacturing State independent of New England and the Protective Tariff is the very thing to do it to give strength and vitality to Western manufacturers during the infancy of the business The Free Trade Clubs started the 4th July in Indiana Ohio and Missouri some time ago, but with the agency of the Free Trade League in New York, have nearly all collapsed, whereas in nearly all of those States healthy Protection Leagues have been formed

A letter from Washington says: "All loyal men must rejoice at the renewal of cordial relations between Gen Grant and Gen Butler That such relations are being re-established I can assure you on the best authority Gen Butler will, without doubt, withhold from publication his vindication, already prepared for the press."

It is rumored that O Meara and Hayden have given up all hopes of carrying a county in the great Willamette for their ticket, and hence their appearances in this section, to endeavor to accomplish what they cannot do below. The cards have already been shuffled and dealt up this way, and not a point made so far —Mountaineer

ASSASSINATION FOR TREASON —At Memphis Tenn on the 17th of April last Brigadier Gen Fred P. Rich, Provost of the U. S. Army was assaulted on the charge of treason before Judge Connolly P. Trigg of the Circuit and District Courts The plea entered was his parole The Court ruled that there was no longer any parole in force on the late proclamation of President Johnson and that rebels were free to resort to the civil authorities Gen Rucker was held in bonds of $10,000 for the next term of Court

MAIL COMMUNICATION —We learn from C W Wallace Esq., who returned last night from San Francisco by the California that arrangements have been completed with the California Steam Navigation Company, to run steamers twice a month to Hilo port The Sierra Nevada will be the first boat under the new contract, and she will leave on the 20th inst This trip is the last that will be made by the California — Victoria Colonist, 16th inst

The President, who has been all his life the advocate of a system of the most shameful adultery that ever blackened the page of history is shocked at the idea of a white man marrying a negro woman Holding as he does to a full divorce for a negro and child will the full flesh hands Mr Johnson had no objections! Out with such shameless hypocrisy —Placerville Herald

Under the heading of "Equivocal," the Hunik Independent says The following occurs in the report of the President's speech to the soldiers and sailors Alluding to the Radicals, the President remarks "If my hand turned the wheels back those to lower me in your estimation [A voice—"They can't do that!"]
